NEW BUS STATION OPENING DELAYED BY NESTING BIRDS!

Wood pigeons halt progress of £3.4m town centre project

Report by Henry James

An artist's impression of what the new Ormskirk bus station will look like... pigeons allowing!

NESTING birds have caused a six week delay to the opening of the new Ormskirk bus station.

The £3.4m Ormskirk Eastern Gateway Project - described as 'vital' to the town - is a partnership between Lancashire County Council, West Lancashire Borough Council and Historic England to upgrade Ormskirk town centre focused on the area around St Helens Road, Moor Street and Ormskirk Bus Station.

The first phase of the project started in May to replace the existing bus station with a more modern facility. However nesting birds on part of the site mean the new bus station is now scheduled to open in early October, around six weeks later than planned.

The temporary bus stops on St Helens Road will continue to operate until the new bus station opens.

Wood pigeons were found to be nesting in trees which formed part of an area of planting at the front of the bus station site adjoining Moor Street.

Their presence delayed work to remove this feature and install drainage, a new boundary retaining wall, new kerbs, and make improvements to the road and pavement. Nesting pigeons are protected by the law and can only be moved in exceptional circumstances. It is considered an offence to move a nest during nesting season, which usually runs from spring through the summer. Continued inside

Residents stranded by bus strike

SKELMERSDALE residents continue to be left with few transport options as the Arriva North West bus strike continues.

Since July, Arriva North West has had to cancel the majority of its services in the region after its drivers went on strike.

With no train station, many people in Skelmersdale rely on Arriva North West's buses for travel in and out of town.

Representatives from Unite and GMB members met with Arriva bosses last Friday. Arriva say they put an improved offer on the table, but the unions did not allow its members to vote on it and talks broke down once again.

Fears over people in Skelmersdale being left stranded because of the bus dispute led to Tanhouse borough councillor, Maureen Nixon, telling the BBC: "This town was built for those who drive and if you don't drive you have to rely on buses."

Supportive

Cllr Nixon uses the bus to go to hospital appointments with her partner, who has suffered a stroke. She told the Champion that a taxi to Wigan hospital costs £15 one way, while one to Leigh hospital is £32 (one way).

She added since the strike her son, who lives in Blackpool, has had to pay for taxis from Wigan to visit his children in the town. Cllr Nixon believes residents need buses to get shopping and to get to work. She added: "Pensioners use the buses with concessionary passes. Since the strike, parents can't take their children on days out unless they drive."

However, the Labour councillor was supportive of the industrial action by Arriva drivers. She said: "Arriva make billions. People need a living wage, which is in line with inflation." Continued inside

MP Moore during his visit to the local RSPCA

MP pledges support for RSPCA after visit to New Cut Lane centre

WITH animal cruelty cases rising (see report below) Southport MP Damien Moore visited the Southport and Ormskirk District branch of the RSPCA to learn more about the work they are doing and to see the animals in their care.

The MP toured the centre, speaking with staff, and hearing about the various cases that have been brought to the centre over the past few weeks.

Branch manager, Paul Gibson explained how the animals came into the RSPCA's care and, in many cases, what medical support they have provided them.

They discussed the challenges the pandemic had posed and the opportunities that the lifting of restrictions has given them, including on their annual Summer Fair.

The RSPCA Branch is now able to hold its Summer Fair on September 11 at its New Cut Lane centre, to raise much-needed funds for the charity. Mr Moore, said: "The team do such wonderful work to improve animal welfare in our town, and I really want to thank them for all that they do."

"I will continue to do all that I can to support the RSPCA both locally and nationally as Southport's Member of Parliament."

Paul Gibson, added: "We have a fantastic team here in Southport who are all passionate about supporting the animals we care for."

"As a branch we find it incredibly useful to be able to provide our MP with feedback on what is working well, and what regulations perhaps need strengthening, and to make sure animals are well protected - both in Southport and elsewhere."

"We thank Mr Moore for his visit, and look forward to welcoming the wider community to the centre on September 11."

Significant increase in dog cruelty cases, says animal charity

THE RSPCA has revealed a 'significant increase' in dogs being victims of cruelty.

The animal charity is currently receiving up to ten reports an hour across the country, and this is expected to increase with a spike in reports during the remainder of the summer.

New figures released last week as part of the animal welfare charity's 'Cancel Our Cruelty' campaign show that despite being man's best friend, there were 44,427 nationwide reports of dog cruelty made to the RSPCA involving 92,244 dogs last year.

With more people becoming dog owners during lockdown the charity is concerned the number of cruelty incidents involving canines will increase - particularly in the summer when it traditionally sees a surge in calls to its cruelty line.

The charity is also worried more dogs will fall victim to abuse and abandonments as the cost of living crisis takes hold adding financial pressures to pet owners.

RSPCA dog welfare expert Dr Samantha Gaines, said: "Every year, we see many dogs coming into our care bearing the physical and mental scars that were inflicted at the hands of the very people who were meant to keep them safe and love them unconditionally."

"We are supposed to be a nation of animal lovers and dogs are 'man's best friend' as the saying goes but in reality

RSPCA officials fear dog cruelty cases, like the one above, are set to spike over the summer period

we receive many cruelty reports every day about dogs who have suffered the most unimaginable cruelty and a 16% increase of dogs being cruelly treated in a year is really concerning.

"During the summer we see a rise in cruelty and this year as we have seen such a massive increase in dog ownership since lockdown, we are bracing ourselves for even more reports."

"This year the cost of living crisis has added a further dimension and we believe we could see people really struggling to care for their pets which may lead them to lash out or could see more animals than ever being abandoned or given up."

"All these factors mean that we need the public's support more than ever to help Cancel Out Cruelty. As a charity, we are bracing to tackle a summer of suffering but we cannot do this without your help and we rely on public support to carry on our rescue, rehabilitation and rehoming work."

Arriva drivers strike leaves many of town's residents unable to travel...

Councillor Maureen Nixon

Another Skem resident, Margaret Highton who works at the food bank at the Evermoor Hub community centre in Digmoor, told the Champion: "My husband has a hospital appointment in Liverpool and it is going to cost nearly £50 return in taxis to get there."

"I live in Holland Moor and it costs more than £5 one way in taxis to get to the Concourse to go shopping and then there is a wait because they are so busy. I didn't go shopping over the weekend because I didn't want to pay these prices for taxis.

"Pensioners can't afford to get taxis and they can't walk. Some people can't afford to shop. Last night they were queuing for food parcels at the centre."

Another Skelmersdale resident said because of the strike, his wife can't catch a bus from the town to her work in Wigan. She would have to get to Pemberton to get the bus from there.

He said: "We can't afford taxis and we don't drive."

"It is absolutely disgraceful that they have gone on strike during the cost of living crisis. Skelmersdale is the forgotten town."

In a statement by Arriva North West, the company said: "Despite further negotiations and having done all we can to make another improved offer, the Unions have once again chosen to walk away, causing further misery for our passengers."

"At this point, we are left questioning why they refuse to give their members the opportunity to vote on our offers, which would make our drivers the highest paid in the region.

"We would like to apologise to our passengers for the ongoing disruption that this dispute is causing to their everyday lives."

"On our side, we are acting in good faith and doing all we can to find a resolution."

"We urge Unite and GMB to do the same, reconsider their position, call an end to inappropriate strike action and give their members the opportunity to ballot on our latest offers."

Margaret Highton

...but fears eased over threat to city bus link

Report by Henry James

A DECISION by Liverpool City Region transport chiefs and Arriva not to reduce the 310 bus service between Skelmersdale and Liverpool to one every hour, has been welcomed by residents and West Lancashire MP Rosie Cooper.

The 310 bus route between the town and the city is, for many in West Lancashire, the only practical public transport link to Liverpool.

In June, Liverpool City Region announced they were consulting on whether to reduce the service from every 30 minutes to once an hour.

After being made aware of this proposal, Ms Cooper wrote to the Metro Mayor Steve Rotherham and Merseytravel Chair, Cllr Liam

Skelmersdale to Liverpool service will continue to run every 30 minutes, say transport chiefs

Robinson to raise serious concerns about the significant negative impact this change would have on her constituents.

Liam Robinson has now met with Ms Cooper to confirm that a decision has been made to keep the service running every 30 minutes.

Rosie Cooper, commented: "This is very welcome news, but I am still astounded it was being considered in the first place."

"Skelmersdale already has atrocious public transport links, and the rail proposal has just had a huge setback, to have gone through with the ridiculous proposal to move the 310 bus to once an hour would have been unbelievable and added insult to injury."

"It was great to meet with Cllr Liam Robinson and I am grateful for his swift confirmation that this reduction of service will not be taking place."

"During our meeting we had a productive discussion about the vital cross boundary services that run from Merseyside to West Lancashire."

"We need to be improving our public transport and I am committed to getting the best outcome for Skelmersdale residents. First and foremost, that means a train station!"

Rosie Cooper - 'This is very welcome news, but I am still astounded it was being considered in the first place'

Nesting wood pigeons cause delay to bus station scheme

Regular checks have been carried out and a survey in late July found that the birds had flown the nest allowing this work to progress.

The delay has had a knock-on impact on other project timescales, with the second phase of work to improve public areas on Moor Street and replace traffic signals at the St Helens Road junction now due to start in mid-September, and the final phase to improve cycling and pedestrian facilities on St Helens Road due to start in early December.

The project was scheduled for completion around the end of 2022, but is now due to be finished in early February 2023.

County Councillor Charlie Edwards, Lancashire County Council cabinet member for highways and transport, said: "This project is vital to the future of Ormskirk to maintain its appeal to local people, visitors and future investors."

"It will make a real difference to the way the town centre looks and feels, as well as helping to reduce congestion in the town centre by making sustainable transport a more attractive option."

"The result will be worth it, making Ormskirk a better place to live and do business in the future, and I'm grateful for the patience people have already shown during the work to replace the bus station."

"I'm sorry for the delay of a few weeks to the completion of the bus station and the overall scheme due to the nesting birds. We have considered all the options to minimise the impact on the project timescales, including completing this part of the site once the bus station had opened, but on balance it was clear that this could cause other difficulties."

Councillor Adam Yates, West Lancashire Borough Council cabinet member for finance and economic regeneration, added: "The public realm improvements to Ormskirk town centre will make a real difference for local businesses, visitors and residents."

"It's unfortunate that the scheme has been delayed by the nesting birds, but it is absolutely essential that ecological requirements are met in full."

"The council and its partners will be doing everything they can to minimise any disruption caused by the delay. We'd like to remind residents and visitors that all town centre businesses will be open as usual during the improvements."

A letter has gone out to retailers on Moor Street and market stall holders to update them on progress with the project."

Poets wanted for book on Skem's rich history

SKELMERSDALE Writers' Group, which has been established in the town for 15 years, is looking for poems written by Skemmers!

Their last publication was Then and Now, Images of Lathom House, pictured, and the group is embarking on a new publication comprising past and present poems about Skelmersdale.

Secretary Carol Fenlon, said: "During research I am doing into the history of Skelmersdale, I have discovered many poems written before the new town was built and also poems written about the new town from the 1960s on."

"To some extent, these represent an art form detailing the town's history and significant events through the experiences of the people who were there at the time and we feel they will make a valuable collection and addition to the town history archive."

"The group is anxious to include any poems written in the past by Skemmers which families may have in their possession, composed by family members, friends, etc."

"Contemporary poems about the town are also wanted. The group members will be contributing poems for inclusion and members of the public are invited to contribute poems of their own about their experience of living in the town."

To find out more, contact Carol Fenlon on 07748244711.

Businesses urged to 'accelerate' plans to hit net zero targets

Report by Tom Martin

WEST Lancashire businesses are being urged to sign up to a university campaign aimed at accelerating their journey to net zero.

Eco-I North West, a large-scale research and development initiative, supports small and medium-sized companies (SMEs) from any sector to develop low carbon innovations in partnership with six of the North West's leading universities – Lancaster, Central Lancashire, Cumbria, Liverpool, Liverpool John Moores and Manchester Metropolitan.

Launched in 2020, the three-year programme, which is part funded by the European Regional Development Fund (ERDF), is now working with more than 180 SMEs across the region, including 47 in Lancashire, to create new sustainable technologies, products and services to accelerate the green economic recovery.

With a year remaining, Eco-I NW is on target to help 369 businesses to develop 135 new innovative solutions and remove 3,850 tonnes of CO2 from the atmosphere, supporting the UK government's target of achieving net zero greenhouse gas emissions by 2050.

Eco-I NW is now looking to connect with the next wave of businesses offering access to fully-funded interns from a pool of highly motivated and talented students across the six universities, match-funded post-graduate researchers for more long term projects, and capital grants to fund prototypes, pilots and demonstration systems.

Andy Pickard, Manager of Eco-I NW and the Centre for Global Eco-Innovation, said: "This first two years of the Eco-I NW programme have been extremely challenging in view of the pandemic, which highlights the incredible achievement that we have managed to support 180 businesses to lead the region's transition towards a low carbon economy."

"Eco-I NW is doing fantastic work to create a melting pot of disruptive innovation, driven by conversation and collaboration."

However, to achieve the rapid transition to more sustainable economies and societies in the face of the climate emergency, we need to grow our network of collaborators.

"The North West has the knowledge, people and industry to be world-leading in the transition to a better economy which is sensitive also to the needs of the environment. And with more than 560,000 SMEs in the region, the opportunity for this crucial collective to create green growth is immense."

"This is why I would encourage any small or medium business in the region to make contact with the Eco-I NW team."

Husband thanks wife and paramedic for saving his life

A HALSALL man has praised ambulance crews and his quick-thinking wife for saving his life after he suffered a cardiac arrest.

In March this year, Simon Tinsley became seriously unwell.

His wife Claudine called 999 and was helped by an emergency call handler, who advised her to ensure Simon's airways were clear and to keep him responsive.

A paramedic called Gordon from North West Ambulance Service arrived shortly after as Simon's condition deteriorated and he went into cardiac arrest.

Gordon told Claudine to give CPR while he set up the defibrillator and ventilation.

Claudine also had to console their distressed 14-year-old daughter, Izzy. After the first shock, Simon regained a regular heart rhythm and consciousness and was taken to Broadgreen Hospital where he had an internal defibrillator fitted.

Simon said: "I would like to pass on my sincere thanks to Gordon. Some people may say he was just doing his job, but as an ex-emergency worker myself, his effort and professionalism was very much appreciated.

"My wife has no formal medical training. She gave me effective CPR whilst also trying to reassure our daughter.

"I'm really keen to help share the message that knowing CPR is a skill we all should have; I am living proof that early intervention saves lives."

Recycle your old glasses at opticians

SPECSAVERS in Ormskirk is offering customers the chance to recycle their glasses and contact lenses in-store for free.

The new initiative comes after the high-street opticians teamed up with recycling experts MYgroup to install recycling collection boxes at Specsavers stores up and down the country.

Customers at Specsavers Ormskirk will be able to drop off both metal and plastic glasses and sunglasses, as well as contacts lenses and accessories, including blister packs, contact lens cases and solution bottles.

Once the collections bins are full, the items will be shipped off to MYgroup recycling plant.

Repurposed

The glasses and contact lenses will be given a second lease of life and repurposed into a wide range of items such as furniture, home and garden accessories, including benches and play park equipment.

Neil Pearson, director at Specsavers Ormskirk, says: "We know from customer feedback that people want to be able to recycle eyecare products, so we are really pleased to be able to meet our customers needs in this important way.

"Sustainability is at the core of our plan for the future and by offering this service we're making it easier than ever for customers to play their part."

Online hub to help women in business

A DEDICATED new online hub has been launched to coincide with the release of a detailed report about the challenges faced by women in business and leadership in Lancashire.

The Women in Enterprise Hub has been funded and launched by Boost; Lancashire's Business Growth Hub.

It provides details of current female business support and events services as well as showcasing inspirational women in the county through Q&A interviews.

It has been launched in response to the Growing Women, Growing Lancashire report.

A Women in Enterprise steering group has also been established to work alongside the Lancashire Enterprise Partnership and create a long-term strategy to grow the number of women in business and leadership in the county.

Wendy Bowers, co-author of the report and founder of the business coaching and leadership organisation Role said: "There is no national strategy to support women in leadership and business and Lancashire's response to the recommendations in the report has been swift and impressive.

"The Boost online hub is the third recommendation in the report and will be an online space where organisations can celebrate women's success stories and women can find support, events and more which are designed at times to suit women and in ways that support women."

Jobseekers helped to return to the workplace after pandemic struggles

JOBSEEKERS in Skelmersdale are being helped to return to the workplace through a service designed to help the country recover from the coronavirus pandemic.

Not-for-profit organisation Fedcap Employment is delivering the UK Government's Restart Scheme in the town on behalf of G4S.

Since its launch last year, the UK Government's Restart Scheme has supported a quarter of a million longer-term unemployed people to build the confidence and skills they need to re-enter the workplace.

Returning to work can be more difficult after an extended period of unemployment. The Government's Restart scheme hopes to provide jobseekers with a year of 'intensive, tailored support'.

Fedcap's new office at the Approach was officially opened by West Lancashire MP Rosie Cooper on Friday, July 29. During the opening event, attendees were given an insight into the Restart Scheme.

Its frontline team are on hand to help with everything from updating CVs to boosting confidence, and from impressing at interviews to supporting with budgeting and managing debt.

The team are also working with some of the region's leading employers to help the region bounce back from the coronavirus pandemic with reliable workers.

West Lancashire MP Rosie Cooper said: "It was a pleasure to officially open the new Fedcap Employment office in Skelmersdale. With the new town centre in place and improving industrial estates, Skelmersdale is on its way to really being 'world class for business' like the sign says."

"That means there are more local jobs available and I hope that the Fedcap Employment office can become a valuable community resource to support Skelmersdale residents to restart their careers and get the best job they can."

Susan Paterson, operations director at Fedcap Employment, said: "We're not about quick fixes or revolving doors; we're here to make a lasting difference to people's lives – and we're already seeing the positive impact that's having on Skelmersdale."

"It's great to see people get the skills, confidence and experience they need to take their careers to the next level."

Edge Hill flying the green flag!

EDGE Hill University is celebrating after being officially recognised as one of the country's best parks and receiving a Green Flag Award for the eleventh year running. The award is the international quality mark for parks and green spaces and puts Edge Hill amongst some of the best green spaces and parks in the UK.

Grounds manager Neil Toner said: "The team's hard work and dedication is reflected by the 11th Green Flag Award we have received, marking over a decade of Edge Hill's campus sitting amongst the best green spaces in the country.

"I'd like to thank every member of staff for their contribution to winning this award."

More veterans forced to rely on universal credit

Report by Henry James

MORE and more veterans are being 'forced to rely on universal credit during the cost of living crisis', claims West Lancs MP Rosie Cooper.

Government figures have revealed that up to 70,000 veterans could now be claiming Universal Credit.

However these figures are drawn from an assessment of just 45% of claimants, meaning the actual figure could be more than double that.

There are currently 1,674 working-age veterans living in West Lancashire.

Ms Cooper said: "Ministers admitted for the first time last month that 33,800 veterans are currently receiving Universal Credit after serving their country, following parliamentary questions to Ministers from Labour's Shadow Defence Secretary John Healey.

"However these figures are drawn from an assessment of just 45% of claimants, meaning the actual figure could be more than double that.

Labour MP Cooper, claimed: "The Conservatives

also broke their own promise on employment support for veterans. In 2019, the Government announced up to £6 million to fund more than 100 Armed Forces Champions in jobcentres. However, the Veterans Strategy Action Plan confirmed that Ministers were pushing ahead with plans for only 50 Armed Forces Champions.

"A report by the Royal British Legion last year found that former personnel are less likely to be in full time or part-time work than the general population, and nearly twice as likely to be unemployed.

"Ministers are forcing veterans to rely on universal credit during the cost of living crisis.

"As veterans struggle with rising bills and inflation, the Government has still not revealed how many veterans in total are relying on universal credit, including in West Lancashire, as well as explaining why they have picked this moment to cut employment support to former personnel in half.

"We have a moral duty to our troops as they transition from military to civilian life and must ensure veterans are receiving the right welfare and employment support to get through the tough months ahead."

New President appointed to take the Rotary Club reins!

IT'S been a busy start to the Rotary year for The Rotary Club of Ormskirk!

John McCormick took over as President of the Club from Phil Lee on July 1 and, after the problems of Covid for the past couple of years, it is hoped that a full programme of meetings and events can be achieved.

The first event was the presentation of certificates and Rotary badges to local pupils, who took part in the Rotary Junior Community Award scheme.

This was started in Australia and the Rotary Club of Ormskirk is one of only two Rotary clubs in the country to organise as a community service project.

The Mayor of West Lancs with John McCormick

A spokesman for the club, said: "It is a fantastic experience and achievement and certificates were presented to the children at a ceremony at the Civic Hall by the Mayor of West Lancashire, Cllr Mrs Marilyn Westley."

The Mayor also visited the club at a meeting in the Cricketers and gave a talk.

Finally, a party was held at the President's house to raise money for local charity Divine Days.

'Respect our beaches' plea as more visitors set to visit coastline

Report by Tom Martin

A NUMBER of organisations have joined forces to spread the word on the 'dos and don'ts' of visiting Sefton's beaches.

The joint action by Sefton Coast Landscape Partnership asks people to plan how they are going to get to the beach, to take all litter home with them and to show "respect and kindness" to staff, the environment and fellow visitors.

It also sets out the boundaries of what is and isn't acceptable at the coast to keep everyone safe.

This includes how fires and BBQs are not allowed anywhere; that there are water safety risks so people should follow the advice of lifeguards; and that anti-social behaviour simply won't be tolerated.

Members of the partnership include Sefton Council, Merseyside Police, Merseyside Fire and Rescue, National Trust Formby, Natural England, the RNLI and other key partners such as Merseyrail.

Already this year there has been a huge influx of visitors to local beaches during hot weather and out of school term times, with many more expected across August and September.

Cllr Ian Moncur, Sefton Council's Cabinet Member for Health and Well-being, said: "First and foremost, the Sefton Coast is an internationally protected nature reserve, and we need your help to keep it that way. So, when people are planning their day trips this summer, we need them to be well prepared and to play their own vital role in ensuring that the coast remains a great place for everyone to enjoy.

"Please listen to what we are collectively saying with our partners, be that important water safety information, fire risk concerns, travel advice or environmental issues around litter and wildlife."

Tracie Trubshaw, Chief Inspector at Merseyside Police said: "As the summer holidays start, we know that many people will want to visit our fantastic beaches and beauty spots in Sefton, and we know the overwhelming majority will do so responsibly.

"Our officers will be working with our partners at Sefton Council to make sure that people can have a good time at our beaches and beauty spots, free of anti-social and criminal behaviour.

"Rest assured, acting in an anti-social manner should expect to be dealt with robustly and we will support our partners in their work. If you have any concerns, please speak to our officers out on patrol, or call 101 so that we can take action and keep our communities safe."

Almost 13,000 patients are waiting for treatment at Ormskirk and Southport hospitals

Patients are waiting 'longer than ever' for treatment at Trust hospitals, says MP

Health bosses say increase is down to Covid impact

Report by Danielle Thompson

AS MANY AS 13,000 people are waiting for NHS treatment at Southport and Ormskirk Hospital Trust, according to latest figures - with 289 waiting for more than a year.

West Lancashire Labour MP Rosie Cooper, hit out at the figure, telling the Champion: "Record numbers of people across the country are waiting for care and they are waiting longer than ever before, often in pain and distress, with nearly 300 patients waiting more than a year for treatment at Southport and Ormskirk."

"Health care staff at Southport and Ormskirk worked heroically throughout the pandemic, but they have been stretched like never before."

'Among trusts of our type in Cheshire and Merseyside, we have the fewest patients waiting more than 52 weeks for planned care' - Southport & Ormskirk Hospital Trust

She claimed: "A decade of Conservative mismanagement left the NHS wanting and inadequate when Covid struck, and patients are now left to wait too long as a result."

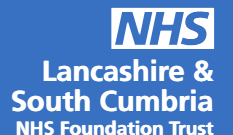

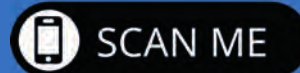

A spokesperson for Southport and Ormskirk NHS Trust said: "Like most hospitals, we have seen waiting times increase over the past three years because of the impact of Covid-19."

"Among trusts of our type in Cheshire and Merseyside, we have the fewest patients waiting more than 52 weeks for planned care. We also are only one of seven trusts in England with no one waiting more than two years."

Anne-Marie Stretch, managing director of Southport and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust, added: "We're sorry for the inconvenience these delays cause but we continue to work hard getting patients seen as quickly as possible based on their clinical priority."

Maybe grass could solve Skem United’s pitch problem

During the last couple of years my son and I have taken a great deal of interest in the fortunes of Skelmersdale United and indeed attended quite a few matches last season, which admittedly was a first and most enjoyable.

It is with great disappointment that I learn that the JMO Sports pitch doesn’t now meet the FIFA ball bounce test, especially given that the football club has been promoted to the Northern Premier League and will be plying their trade in a higher football tier.

Skem United in action last season.

Now admittedly, I don’t know the ins and outs, and whether or not it’s a clever ploy to get the council and/or football club to pay towards upgrading the pitch.

But I am also wondering if it has occurred to all concerned that they could perhaps rip up the astroturf pitch and replace it with grass.

It would possibly be cheaper now and in the long run in terms of future maintenance.

Just a thought!

Either way I hope that this gets resolved one way or the other sooner rather than later as my son and I were really looking forward to watching local non-league football this coming season - and not having to travel many miles to do so!

John Gallagher,
Upholland

Arriva’s gratitude to its drivers proved to be a cheap gesture

The Arriva bus dispute centred initially on pay: we simply wanted a pay rise that would cushion the blow of the rising cost of living, and had the company offered this back in March, buses would be running.

We thought then, as we do now, that a company that celebrated its workforce through the pandemic as ‘heroes’, delivered a card thanking its staff and asked a lot of us during some of the most trying times that the industry has ever faced, would at least remember the sacrifices that people made throughout the pandemic.

And that they would appreciate that no hard-working man or woman should have to have their pay topped by the UK taxpayer in full-time employment.

However, such messages of gratitude are as cheap as the plastic cards that were fed through our letterboxes.

It just goes to prove that these multinationals and their handsomely paid directors cannot ‘give’ something with one hand without ‘taking’ with the other.

Striking bus driver,
Sefton

Morris double sends Skem through in cup

Skelmersdale United 2
Padiham 1

SKELMERSDALE United cleared their first hurdle in the FA Cup after knocking out Padiham, writes Neil Leatherbarrow.

Playing at the Community Ground in Burscough, a brace from Elliot Morris sent Skem through to the next preliminary round when they will face either Prescott Cables or Ashton Athletic.

The opening goal arrived on 35 minutes and it was right out of the route one song book.

Skem goalkeeper Andy Coughlin cleared via a long ball, number nine Southworth headed it on and Elliott Morris was put through to score.

Padiham equalised soon after from the penalty spot, captain Ben Hoskin slotting the ball past Coughlin.

Skem found a winning goal with a penalty of their own. Morris was upended in the box and he stepped up to score and make it 2-1 to Skem.

Padiham poured men forward in the closing stages and hit the woodwork, but Skem managed to hold on for the win.

The victory over Padiham is the perfect way to build-up to the start of the league campaign, which kicks off for Skem this Saturday when they host Trafford at the Community Ground.

• Meanwhile, Burscough crashed out of the FA Cup after a narrow 1-0 defeat away at Silsden, writes Pete Hill.

The new management team of Craig Davies and Todd Blayney will be disappointed to not earn a replay after a positive performance.

Despite making a bright start to the game, Burscough were reduced to ten men on 38 minutes after Liam Caddick received a straight red.

Silsden got the winner late in the game when a cross was deflected into his own net by Josh Dobie.

Ormskirk edge out Northern

Having won the toss and electing to field, the Crosby side were all out for 202, with

A plant nursery with a rich, 100 year history

THE owner of a family-run business in Ormskirk has shared the secrets of what makes his firm so successful.

Horticulturalist Paul Francis, revealed that the Ring O' Bells Nursery on Ring O Bells Lane is a wholesale plant nursery, with a rich, 100 year history – and his long-term aims are to restore the site in Lathom to its 'former glory.' As a nursery, they are able to focus on the quality of the plants and are able to offer a great quality product 'much cheaper than a destination garden centre.'

Once one of the biggest wholesale nurseries in the North West, Paul has plans to continue thriving and "become that once again!"

His aims include helping people use their outdoor areas to improve their mental health and well-being; supporting other local businesses and employing local people; and building links with local landscaping firms, on top of keeping their loyal customers happy with a wide range of plants on offer.

He said: "I have worked in horticulture for more than a decade and wanted to establish my own family run business locally. I have had plenty of help from friends, family and the local community in the past few months. We are looking at restoring the nursery to its former glory, the Nursery has grown shrubs and trees for over 100 years!"

"Since opening mid-July the feedback and support from local community has been overwhelming and it has been lovely to see people picking up plants and enjoying the nursery again."

"The plant centre is ready and stocking a great range of locally grown shrubs, trees, alpine, perennials, roses, veg plants, fruit bushes and bedding. As well as stocking specimen plants, topiary, standards, bamboo and palms for people looking for something more exotic."

"Our goal is to help as many people as possible enjoy their green spaces helping to positively impact both the environment as well as people's mental health, we are passionate about both of these issues and want our business promote change for the better in both."

"We want to be a significant employer locally and generally a business that the local community can be proud of once again."

"We will eventually be developing the whole site and doing a significant proportion of our own grown plants, we are passionate about wherever possible using local production, so our bedding is grown in Lydiate, our alpine are grown in Tarleton, veg plants and herbs grown in Burscough and our shrubs are grown in Preston."

"In addition to our focus being on locally grown plants we will be importing specimens, topiary, standard trees and palms for people wanting something a little different."

"Keen to build strong relationship with local landscapers and wholesale customers offering; trade terms, pricing and bespoke sourcing service and delivery. Already done work with local landscapers, schools and businesses."

"We want to offer the full planting needs and will be offering field grown trees, hedging and shrubs when we get into autumn."

Pandora's Box

How to match your swimwear to your shape and look amazing!

At Pandora's Box, we pride ourselves on giving great advice when it comes to flattering your figure and we know all the tricks of the trade to get you from feeling "nah" to "wow".

With holiday season well and truly in full swing, it's time to talk about what different swimwear styles will suit your individual body shape. It can be important for some women to find the shape which is most flattering or enhancing to their figure shape – and if you do, we're here to help! Many women know the benefits of correctly fitted lingerie and how it can significantly alter your silhouette for the better. It can make the difference of confident versus self-conscious. The same is most definitely true when it comes to swimwear! Swimwear should fit like lingerie – offering all the support and comfort you need. When a customer comes in for swimwear, we can make an assessment as to what shape she is and what shape bikini or swimsuit will suit her best if she wants us to. So, let's get started with what is the best swimwear for your body shape....

PLUS SIZE

Depending on your personality and what you're comfortable with, will also depend on what works best for you. If you want to show your curves off (and let's face it, why wouldn't you) then read the other sections that most apply to you below! If you're not as confident with your curves, then you might feel more comfortable in a swimsuit. Elomi is a great brand for curvy women, offering support and confidence built into the design and fabrics used.

Our 'Bazaruto' swimsuit has an adjustable leg to give you the option to pull up or down depending on your leg length and it has a plunge neckline with integrated non wired bra and adjustable straps.

SMALLER BREASTS

There are many perks to having smaller boobs when it comes to swimwear! Triangle bikinis, padded plunge and bandeau tops all look great. That's not to say if you're bigger boobed you can't wear these styles, but support isn't as much of a priority, so you have more flexibility to mix and match. Pour Moi is a great brand for A cup plus, and the 'Getaway' in coral is one of our favourites if you want to increase your size. The padded bikini top will add on 1-2 cup sizes and its pretty frill detail is simply gorgeous.

LARGER BREASTS

So you have bigger breasts? Why not show them off... Freya's 'Check In' range has a high apex, meaning it plunges to reveal a generous cleavage. Or would you rather feel more covered up and reduced? Try one of Fantasie's full cup bikini tops with a pattern going in different directions – this will give the illusion of smaller boobs. Fantasie La Chica is a great design for this.

HOURLY GLASS

Embrace those curves! If you have an hour-glass figure you can wear pretty much anything! From 1950's inspired high waist bottoms and balcony bikini tops to classic briefs and plunge bras. Our suggestion? 'Beach Hut' from Freya will look fabulous. This retro inspired plunge halter neck style has fine blue and white stripes which enhance the bust.

PEAR SHAPE

If you want to enhance your top half and reduce your bottom half then consider a patterned and busy print top with a plain block colour bottom. The Freya 'Honolua Bay' bralette and folding brief is the perfect combination for this, as the fold down brief is a block colour with a hint of the print from above. The bralette gathers in at the centre front, enhancing your natural curves.

MORE COVERAGE

We pride ourselves on offering fabulous cover ups in all shapes and colours. Many customers like to buy cover ups to make them feel more confident from beach to bar or for some extra coverage when you need it.

APPLE

Another fruit comparison! Apple shape refers to bodies which are rounder in the middle. If your conscious of your tummy and want to make the most of your figure, a suit with a pattern will be your best friend. The Fantasie twist front 'Santa Monica' suit, offers a fantastic shape across the bust and its pretty spot pattern will detract the eye away from the middle area.

ATHLETIC

If you have a more athletic shaped body then the Pour Moi 'Horizon' cami top and fold brief could be just what you're looking for. Its generous fold over on the brief will allow you to pull up or down depending on how long your body is and the cami top style top will sit perfectly across your bust.

TUMMY SUPPORT

Tummy support swimsuits or briefs are great if you want to feel a little firmer around the tummy area. The Fantasie 'Kiawah Island' has a high waisted full brief and is just perfect for those of you who want a little extra support.

Appetite for chips causing global supply shortages!

ANYONE for chips? Not the kind that you get on Friday night with a helping of battered cod, mind. This week we're on about the kind that people are really craving right now.

Sorry, potato purveyors of the north west, but the chips in question are the ones that go into your car rather than the ones best enjoyed with a spot of curry sauce. The global shortage of components, and particularly semiconductors, has had all sorts of weird ramifications for the car industry. And, in a nutshell, it's why there are plenty of stories doing the rounds of people ordering new cars and having to wait months, or worse, having their orders cancelled altogether.

It's the reason why the Society of Motor

Manufacturers and Traders said this week that new car registrations were down nine per cent in July, making it the fifth consecutive fall – and even though electric cars are bucking the trend and still increasing in sales, their growth rate is slowing, with would-be buyers held back by the wider supply chain issues.

But the insatiable appetite for cars is still there – which is why, at the same time, a study into used cars has shown that the cumulative average price for secondhand buys is up by nearly 20 per cent. All those people who can't get their bums into a shiny new Corsa are simply heading to dealers and car supermarkets instead in search of a pre-owned example, presumably engaging in a round of light fisticuffs with everyone else who had the same idea.

Nor, from painful experience, is sitting it out and occasionally renting something necessarily a way out either. I've been lucky enough to know when I'm travelling and been able to book several weeks in advance and have a freshly polished Kia deposited on my doorstep, but colleagues who've needed rentals at short notice have been told that nothing's available because everything's been booked up (by me). Don't like the car you've been given? Tough.

In short – and there are all sorts of reasons for this, from China's zero-cases policy on Covid, an ongoing logjam in global shipping, and Vladimir Putin's summer visit to Ukraine – there just aren't enough cars to go around. The reason why new car sales are down isn't because people don't want them; it's that the carmakers literally can't build enough of them.

Don't fancy spending over the odds on your next buy, or waiting month after month for a new car? For me, the answer's simple – even in these stunted moments for the UK's car market there are still all sorts of cars crying out for new owners, but you just have to cast your net a bit wider, and trawl through the classifieds and find something really interesting. You could, for instance, spend £12,250 on a brand-new Kia Picanto – or for the same money, you could have a BMW 740i, with 69,000 miles on the clock and a 4.4-litre V8 beneath its bonnet, sat on your driveway.

I know which I'd rather have. Make mine a 7-series with chips and curry sauce, please...
